MaFiA semináre

Matus Senaj

E-mail: senaj@rrz.sk

Rada pre rozpočtovú zodpovednosť má ambíciu zapájať sa aj do medzinárodnej odbornej diskusie v oblasti makroekonomických a fiškálnych analýz. Pravidelne preto usporadúva semináre so zahraničnými výskumníkmi pôsobiacimi či už v akademickej sfére alebo v medzinárodných organizáciách. Ich cieľom je aj zabezpečiť kontakt pre odborníkov pôsobiacich v RRZ, iných verejných inštitúciách a na univerzitách na Slovensku s aktuálnym dianím a skúsenými expertmi vo svete výskumu.

Historical sources of development in Central and Eastern Europe WORKSHOP ON ECONOMIC HISTORY AND DEVELOPMENT

Central European University (CEU), Budapest, 9-10 January 2015

Keynote speakers:

Şevket Pamuk (Boğaziçi University)

Nikolaus Wolf (Humboldt University)

CALL FOR PAPERS

Deadline: October 15th, 2014

The keys to understanding current economic and social development are often found in the past. This is particularly true of Central and Eastern Europe, where the confluence of different people, cultures, ideologies and nation states has exerted an immense influence on economic development for centuries. Despite its tumultuous history, Central and Eastern Europe has not garnered sufficient attention by researchers of the economic sciences. The WEast initiative was started in 2013 with the aim of putting it at the forefront of scholarship in economic history. By bringing scholars of different backgrounds together, WEast intends to facilitate the exchange of ideas and advertise the wealth of unique historical data in the region.

The WEast workshop in Budapest wishes to promote these goals by targeting a wide audience of economic historians and development economists. Organizers from the Economics Department of the Central European University invite both established researchers and graduate students to submit their scientific work considering relevant aspects of the region's historical development. We particularly welcome submissions that study general economic issues still relevant today or deal with less widely known aspects of Central and Eastern Europe's development.

Those wishing to participate should send their research paper and/or extended abstract along with short academic CV by email to Paweł Bukowski (Bukowski_Pawel@ceu-budapest.edu) no later than October 15th, 2014. Selected participants will be informed soon afterwards. All costs related to participation, hotel accommodation and catering during the workshop will be fully covered for presenters. Travelling expenses will have to be borne by the participants themselves. Further details about exact arrangements will be communicated to selected participants and also made available on the WEast website <http://weast-initiative.blogspot.com/>.

The Central European University follows the best Anglo-Saxon tradition of higher education but at the same time cherishes its historical heritage by actively promoting the concept of open and democratic societies. The Economics Department is a leading and dynamic center of international economic research in the region.

PhD / Master's Openings in Behavioral and Experimental Economics

Maroš Servátka

E-mail: maros.servatka@canterbury.ac.nz

New Zealand Experimental Economic Laboratory (NZEEL) is advertising up to two PhD/Master's openings in Behavioral and Experimental Economics. New Zealand Experimental Economic Laboratory is part of the College of Business and Economics at the University of Canterbury and is located in Christchurch, New Zealand. NZEEL is the home of cutting edge experimental research and teaching in social science. The laboratory is a state-of-the-art facility with 36 fully partitioned work stations and separate experiment control room.

The PhD opening is available to students who have completed a M.Sc./M.A. (or a comparable degree) in economics, finance, business or other related or relevant fields. The successful applicant must have demonstrated a research potential as reflected by the grades obtained and the quality of the master thesis. Knowledge about quantitative research methods is welcome.

The Master's opening is available to students who have completed an undergraduate degree in economics, finance, business or other related or relevant fields.

The applications must be accompanied by a description of your anticipated PhD-research or Master-research project (max. 5 pages). It should state the relevant research questions, describe the theories and methods that are expected to be used in the project as well as demonstrate with a tentative time schedule that the project is fitted towards the 3-year (PhD) or 1 year (Master's) period.

As part of the PhD/Master's program you will be expected to conduct research related to your PhD/Master's thesis, participate in economics courses recommended by your supervisor, and provide research assistance in the experimental laboratory. The successful applicants will be eligible to apply for a University of Canterbury Doctoral/Master's Scholarship. Scholarship applications will be assessed on academic achievement, but also on broader grounds, including any relevant professional experience.

UC Doctoral Scholarship applications will also be considered for UC's prestigious Doctoral awards:

- Brownlie Scholarship ($26,000 p.a. for 3 years plus NZ domestic tuition fees)
- UC International Doctoral Scholarships ($25,000 p.a. for up to 3 years; thesis tuition fees at NZ domestic rate; plus economy return airfare)

UC Doctoral and Master's Scholarships: Value & Tenure

- Doctoral: NZ$20,000 p.a. plus tuition fees for up to 3 years (full-time) or up to 55 months (part-time)
- Master's: NZ$12,000 plus NZ domestic tuition fees for up to 1 year (full-time) or up to 18 months (part-time)

Closing date for applications: 5.00pm NZ time, 15 October, 2014 (starting date February 2015)
